

Contents.

vii

	Page.		Page.
Anecdote of Judge Marshall.....	350	Falls of St. Anthony.....	322
Adversity—Virtue—Parents.....	392	Selfishness.....	388
Spring.....	418	On Midnight.....	366
The Power of Memory.....	419	Village of Bethany and Dead Sea	399
All for the Best—General Aspect of Palestine.....	420	Supposed site of Babylon.....	415
Death—Thoughts—Guilt.....	421	Poetry.
Pursuit of Knowledge.
Pursuit of knowledge under difficulties.....	222, 226, 300, 345, 367, 402	Missionary Hymn.....	30
Miscellaneous Articles.
Athens.....	3	The Deluge.....	34
The Sabbath Bell.....	5	The Swan.....	35
Howard's Monument.....	21	Howard—The Calm Sea.....	36
Music.....	28	Path to the Grave.....	69
Weasley University.....	38	I know thou hast gone.....	70
Constantine.....	43	The Huma.....	71
St. Paul's Church.....	40	The Daisy—Dew Drop.....	72
Historical account of the Dog	53	Funeral Reflections.....	103
Glaciers of Switzerland.....	75	Beauties of Night.....	104
Beautiful Sentiment.....	77	Morning.....	105
On the death of a Wife.....	78	Noon.....	105
Hebrew Poets.....	79	Sweet Home.....	107
Ancient Babylon.....	83	Changes.....	108
The only Refuge.....	80	Curse of Cain.....	142
Mariner's Church.....	81	Home of the Blest.....	143
Funeral at Sea.....	83	Life, Death and Eternity.....	143
Mount Joliot.....	111	The Rainbow.....	143
The Eloquent must study.....	114	Sonnet.....	144
Hope.....	115	"Ye have a land of mist," &c.....	178
Hymns of David.....	116	"Remember me," &c.....	180
Brooklyn Institute.....	117	They heard his words with scorn.....	179
Cultivation of the mind.....	118	Changes.....	150
Sketch from the Bermudas.....	130	On the death of a young lady.....	213
Moonlight.....	123	The Stars.....	214
Beauties of Music.....	127	Sunset Thoughts.....	215
Home.....	129	Parting Friends.....	216
Falls at Ithica.....	131	The Alpine Horn.....	241
City of Troy.....	147	The Two Advents.....	249
Coral Formations.....	154	Our Daily Paths.....	249
Crater of Kiruea.....	183	The Pilgrim's Home.....	250
Remarks on Knowledge.....	188	The Ruined Tower—Sonnet to
The City of Jerusalem.....	219	Water—Philosophy's Cell.....	251
American Literature.....	230	The Star of Bethlehem.....	252
Holy Land—Bethlehem.....	231	Ode to the Wren.....	279
Anecdote of Mungo Park.....	233	The Last Return.....	294
Public Speaking.....	239	A New Year's Eve.....	285
Recreation.....	240	From lays of the early Martyrs.....	286
The Alpine Horn.....	241	Bunker Hill—Voice of Warning.....	287
A Village Funeral.....	243	Mary hath chosen that better part.....	288
The City of Quebec.....	255	American Snow-Bird.....	314
The City of Odessa.....	291	I see thy Power, Eternal God.....	329
Arabs Raising Water from the Nile	306	Stanzas.....	323
The American Snow-Bird.....	313	Elegy on Rev. Bishop Heber.....	324
Drauidical Temple at Avebury.....	327	Mourn for the Living, &c.....	357
Female Character.....	329	Times' Song.....	358
The Lake of Genesareth.....	336	The Use of Tears—The Diem-
Ancient Dwellings.....	343	bodied Spirit.....	359
View of Tahiti.....	363	I would not live away.....	360
Extraordinary Rock-Water Spout	365	The Synagogue.....	376
Remarkable Coral Reef.....	366	The Hour of Distress—Time.....	393
Holy Land.....	374, 386, 384, 373	Spring.....	394
Mountain Scene near the Cedars of Lebanon.....	377	Evening—The Infant.....	393

THE MONTHLY REPOSITORY.
AND LIBRARY OF ENTERTAINING KNOWLEDGE.

THE object of this Work is to afford useful and entertaining knowledge, not only to youth, but also to those more advanced in years, and who may not have the means to procure, or leisure to peruse more elaborate works. The desire, and constant aim of the Editor will be to render this little publication popular and instructive to every class of readers—a work that the parent may with perfect safety place in the hands of his child—or the tutor present to his deserving pupil as the reward of merit. As a volume it shall not be unworthy a place in the Family Library.

CONDITIONS.

1. THE REPOSITORY is issued in monthly numbers, of 36 pages each, handsomely printed, on good paper, with a fair type, neatly stitched in printed covers, and ornamented with Engravings on wood.
2. The price per year is One Dollar and Fifty Cents, payable on the delivery of the sixth number; or One Dollar and Twenty-five Cents on delivery of the third number.
3. To those who pay for the work at the commencement of the year, or at the time of their subscribing; or who may purchase for charitable distribution, the price will be One Dollar.
4. To Subscribers at a distance the work will be regularly forwarded by mail or otherwise, as they may direct, at their expense and risk. The safe transmission of all numbers paid for in advance will be guaranteed: but no payment will be considered in advance unless made to the Publisher or an authorized Agent within one month after the receipt of the first Number.
5. Any Agent or other person remitting $3 in advance, and if by mail, free of postage, will be entitled to Four copies; Seven copies for $5 and Fifteen copies for $10. In all cases where a remittance amounts to $5 or more, the postage will be paid by the Publisher.
6. Twelve numbers will form a Volume, and will when published, be considered as one year's subscription.
7. Subscribers who may wish to discontinue their subscriptions, should give at least one month's notice thereof, previous to the expiration of the time subscribed for.

 The first and second volumes, half bound in calf, very neat, or in plain sheep, $1 25 each.

